FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Price Center Ranked No. 73 on the 2026 Top 100 Women-Led Businesses in Massachusetts

Recognizing 26 years of women's leadership and a record $164 billion in combined revenue

Boston, MA — November 4, 2026 — The Price Center is proud to announce that it ranked No. 73 on the 2026 Top 100 Women-Led Businesses in Massachusetts, presented by The Women's Edge in partnership with The Boston Globe. The annual recognition was announced at the Top 100 Awards Breakfast on October 30, 2026, and published in the Women & Power issue of Boston Globe Magazine on November 1, 2026.

Led by Abigail Parrilla, President and Chief Executive Officer, The Price Center joins organizations across Massachusetts whose leadership and impact help shape the Commonwealth's economy and communities. Together, the 2026 honorees represent more than $164 billion in 2025 revenue and operating budgets and employ more than 161,000 people in Massachusetts.

> "I am honored that The Price Center has been recognized among this year's Top 100. This recognition belongs to the individuals we serve and the dedicated employees who support them every day. Our mission is to empower adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities, including autism, to thrive in their living, social, and work communities. I am proud of the impact our community continues to make."

For 26 years, the Top 100 has highlighted women leaders across Massachusetts. This year's honorees include organizations from across sectors and collectively represent more than 161,000 Massachusetts employees. The Top 100 list is developed through a nomination and review process that considers organizational revenue or operating budget alongside factors including workforce and management diversity, board makeup, and innovative projects. The 2026 list marks the 14th year of partnership between The Women's Edge and The Boston Globe.

About The Price Center

Founded in 1977 and based in Newton, Massachusetts, The Price Center empowers adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities, including autism, to thrive in their living, social, and work communities. The organization serves more than 200 individuals through community-based day services, day habilitation, specialized supports, employment services, and residential programs. Learn more at www.thepricecenter.org.

About The Women's Edge

The Women's Edge is a Boston-based nonprofit organization devoted to advancing women in leadership positions. For 26 years, it has recognized women-led businesses in Massachusetts through its Top 100 program, in partnership with The Boston Globe.

Media Contact

The Price Center Communications Team | communications@thepricecenter.org | 617-244-0065